Justice Minister Pledges Conscription Support In Spirited Speech To House

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP)—Justice Minister St. Laurent told the House of Commons last night that 175 years of British connection had "conclusively shown" that the 3,000,000 Canadians of French origin "are not going to be assimilated."

He spoke in support of Bill 80 which will enable the government to enforce conscription for overseas service by order-in-council.

"I am convinced that we have any objection to the government resorting to conscription for overseas service in the event of absolute necessity."

GIVEN OVATION

The justice minister was frequently applauded throughout his speech. He received an ovation from members of all parties at the close when Prime Minister Mackenzie King walked over and shook his hand.

Mr. St. Laurent expressed regret that Hon. P. A. Cadan had refused his petition for a writ of habeas corpus in protest against the bill, and criticized Mr. Cadan's speech in explanation.

"In spite of the difficulties which the future may hold in store for members of this government I felt it was my duty to carry my portion of whatever responsibilities might be involved," he said.

Other Quebec members were opposing the measure.

"Night I suggest to my colleagues in this house from my own province that they know as well as I."

Alberta Doctors

Win Golf Event

JASPER, June 17.—(CP)—An Alberta team edged out an Ontario sextet in the feature event of the golf tournament held in conjunction with the Canadian Medical Association annual conference. The Albertans won the Alberta cup with a total score of 448 compared to 461 for Ontario.

The Alberta trophy, based on the low six net scores from any province, was donated this year by the Y.M.C.A. of Edmonton.

F. F. Tisdall of Toronto won the Ontario cup for the low net individual score by carding 85, giving him 69 because of a 18 handicap.

Members of the Alberta team were Dr. W. S. Nieuwenhuis, Dr. R. A. Vant, Surgeon Lieut. H. G. Farrah, and Dr. P. P. Mousset, all of the University of Alberta, and Dr. G. C. Wagner of Innisfail and Dr. E. H. Brodman of Lethbridge.

Dr. Nieuwenhuis won the Kennedy trophy for annual competition between Calgary and Edmonton doctors.

SINGLE COPY, 5 CENTS

Extension Announced In House

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP)—Single men and childless widowers up to and including 35 years of age are subject to compulsory military training under a proclamation tabled in the House of Commons today by War Services Minister Thorson.

This is an extension of five years in the upper age limit for men called up under the National Resources Mobilization Act, which was passed in 1940.

Now before the house of commons is an amendment to the N.R.M.A. which would remove the restriction against compelling men to live outside Canada. Today's proclamation extends the restriction.

Extension of the age limit to include men up to 35 was predicted in the house of commons several weeks ago by Mr. Thorson. The next step is expected to be the calling of married men, starting with those who were 21 years old and under when the restriction was passed.

Only last March the call-up age was raised from 25 to 30. The age limit was raised again to 35.

Men over 35 are exempted from military training unless they are married, have a child, or are otherwise exempted.

REPULSED AT SEVASTOPOL

Nazis Are Smashed Back In Fierce Kharkov Battle

By HENRY C. CASBIDY
MOSCOW, June 17.—(AP)—Soviet counter-attacks on the Kharkov front were reported today to have forced Germans to abandon several important lines in one sector where they tried to dig in to new positions.

The Nazis were rolled back there, Russian dispatches told of other Red army counter attacks in several other Kharkov sectors.

In the battle for Sevastopol the defense of Sevastopol five times only to be repulsed in every case.

The Red army, the dispatches told, is still holding Balaklava, the fishing town, 7½ miles south of Sevastopol made famous by Tennyson's poem "The Charge of the Light Brigade" which occurred during the Crimean War.

More than 400 Germans were killed, two tanks were captured and an enemy defence position was occupied in a Bryansk sector, the Soviet information bureau said, reporting gain in that region southwest of Moscow for the second successive day.

The Germans lost 20 tanks and about 800 dead during fighting thrusts in another sector, its communique declared.

FORCES HEAVILY HIT
The Russians said the defenders of Sevastopol, fighting from a system of entrenchments and fortifications 15 miles deep, cut heavily Sevastopol into German assault batteries, more than 150 tanks and many planes.

Conscription At Present Time

Said Harmful

OTTAWA, June 17.—(CP)—War Services Minister Thorson said today in the House of Commons that introduction of conscription for overseas service at present would be harmful to the war effort.

Speaking in the debate on the amendment to the National Resources Mobilization bill which would remove the restriction against compelling overseas service, Mr. Thorson said Canada is nearing complete mobilization of production of food and raising and equipping armed forces.

"In my opinion the imposition of conscription for overseas service at the present time would definitely be harmful to the war effort," Mr. Thorson said.

WANT RESULTS
"The people of Canada are more concerned with the achievement of results than with the application of theories and the actions of the government will be governed accordingly," he said.

There were three primary objectives, he said, for the government in the war effort: to win the war, to secure peace, and to secure a better world.

"If we are to make a maximum war effort we must not lose sight of any of these objectives," the minister said.

"We must attain them concurrently as far as that is possible to do. Each step that is taken must be carefully considered in the light of its effect on the totality of our war effort."

"An attempt has been made to identify conscription for overseas service with total war effort," he continued. "There is no necessary connection between the two."

"Indeed, conscription for service overseas, in my opinion, by reason of its over-emphasis on the Canadian army overseas, have resulted in a less effective total war effort than the one we have been able to achieve."

Collection of Paper Salvage Is Curtailed
A request that further collection of paper salvage by salvagers be curtailed temporarily, has been received by Edward C. Fisher, provincial director of the national office of the National Salvage Commission at Ottawa.
The request was directed to all salvage committees in the three western provinces, except the one in Winnipeg, and Mr. Fisher accordingly asked that committees throughout Alberta curtail paper collecting temporarily and direct their salvaging efforts towards rubber, metal, tin, bones, and glass.

NORFOLK, Va., June 17-(AP)—An enemy submarine torpedoed two large United States merchant ships Monday within view of the city of Norfolk. A Virginia beach resort who stared seaward appalled as bombing planes, a navy blimp and a half dozen battleships loomed over the scene. The attack was the first of the day, dropping bombs and depth charges that caused huge sprays of water skyward.

French Legion Fought Gallantly At Bir Hacheim

Besieged Force Withstood

Best Service If National Health Scheme Is Adopted

JASPER, June 17.—(CP)—Dr. S. Fahmi of Winnipeg called on the Canadian Medical Association today to "try every way possible to see that the best form of medical service will be given to the Canadian people when and if the government decides to institute a health service for Canada."

In his presidential address to the third annual meeting of the association, Dr. Fahmi said there were two "very good arguments" in favor of introduction of a comprehensive health plan in Canada before the end of the present war.

One reason was the "sense of security" it would give to the people during post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation. The second was the fact that the war continues many more years we may find it easier to introduce a health plan rather than a democratic form of government.

TOLD WHAT TO DO
Under the bureaucratic government, he added, "we would then be told what to do and what health plan we would have. Dictators and bureaucrats rarely design to consult or take the advice of bodies like the medical profession. If, however, a satisfactory plan was in operation perhaps at least some freedom from it would be retained."

some of the Alaskan islands were not able to dispatch a large-scale expeditionary force to attack either Alaska or British Columbia. Indeed, the noted author, Lord Strachan, dismisses the possibility as "fantastic." Then Rear Admiral John H. Towers, U.S. Navy, is reported to have stated at Baltimore that invasion of the Alaskan islands was a "far-reaching measure" by the Japanese after their Midway defeat and "a step of no real importance that might easily become a liability."

On the same day our hard-pressed Chinese Allies were called upon by the Canadian Legion to strike hard at the Japanese in the Aleutians and "pursue them right back to the heart of Japan." Canadians are given the final and greatest re-assurance from the man who has just been placed in charge of defence of those areas of the Canadian west coast where the Japanese might be expected to attack if successful in the Alaskan invasion.

HEARD ARTILLERY
We could hear the British artillery at times bawling away. We have no hope but it never came any nearer. We had great confidence in our commander, General Koenig, and in Col. Anikhar, Russian commander of the Foreign Legion, who like all other Foreign Legion members braved as private.

We never lacked food and were allowed two quarts of water daily. The morale was good. But the attacks got worse and worse and we had to get ready to go. We took our rifles, one day's rations and a canteen of water.

BATTLE FORMATION
We were in battle formation, with bayonets fixed and an out of grenade. On orders from Capt. Morel we charged. Before we knew where we were in the trench. There were three Germans there. I shot them all dead. I shot another and the third died.

Leader of Nazi Bund In U.S. Is Suicide Victim
GARRETT, Ind., June 17.—(AP)—Dr. Robert Nathan, Delba County coroner, said last night that George Frodoe, Jr., 42, a leader of the German-American Bund at Waterford, 10 miles north-east of here. The coroner said Frodoe was slain from a Chicago-to-New York passenger train and laid down his head on the track placing his head on a rail as the train started. He said a federal bureau of investigation agent from Fort Wayne went to Waterford and removed papers from the man's pockets.

Veteran Railman Of Medicine Hat Passes At Coast
VICTORIA, June 17.—(CP)—Frederick Charles Moody, 30, a Canadian Pacific Railway conductor running out of Medicine Hat, died here yesterday. Born in Redding, Eng., he came here 18 months ago upon retirement. Surviving are his widow at home and two sons, Philip Arthur, Medicine Hat, and John Frederick, in England. Burial will be made in Mary's cemetery.

"It is he who, while on the spot, an agent of the government as well as being the family physician, should investigate the physical fitness of all members of the family."

Turning to the system under which a health insurance program might operate, Dr. Fahmi said the weight of opinion seemed to favor limiting the insurance to those whose income is insufficient to provide adequate medical care, although "there are some who feel that no income ceiling should exist."

Whether the income limit was set at $1,800 or $2,400 a year was not important, "but it is important that all the people below the income level set should come under the plan and this would include all indigents. In the matter of benefits, the prevailing opinion favors a full coverage including hospitalization. This would include preventive medicine and all medical and surgical care, and the highest service possible should be our objective."

DIVISION OF WORK
The division of work between the general practitioner and the specialist would require special study with one service complementary to the other.

The principle of free choice of doctor should be protected, so that the patient, insofar as is reasonable, may select attention from the general practitioner or specialist whom he believes to be most capable. This principle instills confidence in the patient and retains the spirit of friendship between the patient and the doctor, which is a needful stimulus for further study and better training."

Dr. Fahmi said there were three methods of remuneration for doctors—for service, capitation or a set fee per patient for each doctor—and salary. "I think we may drop the last, for I do not think that either the people or the profession would consider state medicine. The fee for service for the time being seems to hold the floor, but it is interesting to follow the experience of the medical profession of other countries, many of whom have switched to capitation, at first unwillingly, but in a short time would have nothing else, and the same has held true in a few localized health units in this country."

"From the point of view of the general practitioner, as he takes on a wider field of preventive medicine, there is much to be said in favor of capitation, as this would tend to stimulate his interest in keeping his flock healthy."

3 Cyclists Fined On License Count
Three juvenile cyclists who were caught operating bicycles without a 1942 license were each fined $1 and costs when their parents appeared before Police Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., Tuesday afternoon.

Bernie Harris, Edmonton, was fined $5 and costs consecutively on two charges of breaches of city traffic by-law. He was caught speeding after the "high-level bridge" and after his opportunity it was found that he was using license plates that did not rightly fully belong to that car. He was given an option of seven days in jail, consecutively, on each charge.
